Chapter 2023 CORE Events

The Chapter event calendar is a working document and changes as events are known. The 2023 Chapter event calendar has several events listed and will change as the year goes on. It's important for the membership to review the calendar throughout the year for changes.

The events in RED are considered CORE events and happen the same time every year. The Ride for Freedom always happens on Sunday of the Memorial Day weekend, the Veterans Center Support Fund Raiser always take place on the 4th Saturday in August, the Fire Watch ceremony always take place on the Thursday before the POW/MIA Recognition Day Escort and ceremony which occurs on the third Friday in September.

May 28 - Rolling Thunder Ride for Freedom.

August 26 -Veterans Center Support Fund Raiser.

September 14 - Watch Fire Ceremony at the Indiana War Memorial.

September 15- POW/MIA Recognition Day Escort and Ceremony.

Membership attendance at all of our scheduled events is important. The CORE events are events that the Chapter is responsible for planning or provide assistance in planning. The CORE events are events that the Chapter Leadership expects to have full support from the membership. These are high visibility events and membership attendance at these events is very important. These events help the Chapter to bring awareness to the public about our POW/MIA mission.

Please mark these dates down on your calendar and plan on attending.

Indy 1500 Gun & Blade Show

The Chapter will return to the Indy Gun and Knife show which is now called the Indy 1500 Gun and Blade show. The purpose of the Chapter returning to the show is to meet new people and bring more awareness to the public about our POW/MIA Mission. We also hope to raffle off a nice weapon to help generate additional operating funds for the Chapter. The first show is in March, followed by shows in June, September, and November.

Here is the dates for the shows.

March 10th - 12th

June 2nd - 4th

September 8th - 10th

November 10th - 12th

The March show will be too soon for the Chapter to purchase a weapon for the show and will be more of an opportunity to pass out information about the Chapter and our POW/MIA mission. We hope to have a nice weapon to raffle off at the remain shows. If you have an recommendation for a weapon to raffle off, please bring it up at the February Chapter meeting.

Darryle will be the Chapters point of contact for the shows and will be asking for your help to maintain the information table and sell raffle tickets at the show. Please give Darryle your support to help make these events successful.

These shows will help the Chapter to bring more awareness to the public about our POW/MIA Mission and generate extra operating funds so the Chapter can continue on with its important mission.

Please give your support.

H.Res.44 - Maintaining North Korea's seizure of the vessel USS Pueblo and its detention of the crew were in violation of international law and seeking the return of the USS Pueblo to the United States.

The U.S. House of Representatives passed a resolution last week calling for the return of a U.S. Navy ship seized by North Korea 55 years ago.

The resolution calls for the return of USS Pueblo while denouncing North Korea's seizure of the ship and its crew Jan. 23, 1968.

The House "maintains North Korea's seizure of the vessel USS Pueblo and its detention of the crew were in violation of international law," it states.

It also adds the House "declares that USS Pueblo is the property of the United States government and it should be returned to the United States."

North Korea's official Rodong Sinmun newspaper reported Saturday that Pyongyang will wipe out "not only a port or an airfield of a warmonger or invader but their entire land if a second USS Pueblo enters our territorial waters again."

The ship and its 83 crewmembers were seized while on an intelligence gathering mission in the East Sea.

The House resolution argued the ship had "strict orders to remain at all times at a distance more than 13 nautical miles from the near point in North Korean territory, in order to avoid any possible incident."

"The United States has no reason to believe the orders were not obeyed," it added, also noting the ship was carrying three 50-caliber machine guns at the time of its seizure, but that not a single shot had been fired.

One of the crewmembers, Fireman Duane Hodges, died on the day during the North Korean seizure of the Pueblo. His body and the other 82 sailors were repatriated in December 1968 after being detained in the North for 11 months.

The crew and their family members filed a damage suit against North Korea in 2018 for the "mental and physical abuse" they were exposed to during their time in the reclusive country.

A U.S. federal district court ruled against the North in 2021, ordering it to pay over $2 billion in total or a minimum of $3.35 million to each of the crewmembers in compensation. (Yonhap)

Message received from Rolling Thunder National 2-6-2023.

Good Morning Chapter Presidents,

Can I ask that all chapters bring this up at your next meeting. Ask if your members would please contact their reps and garner support for this effort ..

This is one of the ships I could have been assigned. The others that had issues during that time frame .. USS Liberty and an EC-121 that the North Koreans shot down and killed my friend Phll Sundby and 30 other fine Americans.

Thank you

Story of the USS Pueblo

On January 23, 1968, the USS Pueblo, a Navy intelligence vessel, is engaged in a routine surveillance of the North Korean coast when it is intercepted by North Korean patrol boats. According to U.S. reports, the Pueblo was in international waters almost 16 miles from shore, but the North Koreans turned their guns on the lightly armed vessel and demanded its surrender. The Americans attempted to escape, and the North Koreans opened fire, wounding the commander and two others. With capture inevitable, the Americans stalled for time, destroying the classified information aboard while taking further fire. Several more crew members were wounded.

Finally, the Pueblo was boarded and taken to Wonson. There, the 83-man crew was bound and blindfolded and transported to Pyongyang, where they were charged with spying within North Korea's 12-mile territorial limit and imprisoned. It was the biggest crisis in two years of increased tension and minor skirmishes between the United States and North Korea.

The United States maintained that the Pueblo had been in international waters and demanded the release of the captive sailors. With the Tet Offensive raging 2,000 miles to the south in Vietnam, President Lyndon Johnson ordered no direct retaliation, but the United States began a military buildup in the area.

At first the captured crew of the Pueblo resisted demands they sign false confessions, famously raising their middle fingers at the camera and telling the North Koreans it was the "Hawaiian good-luck sign." Once the North Koreans learned the truth, they punished the prisoners with beatings, cold temperatures and sleep deprivation, according to a lawsuit some of the Pueblo's crew would later file against the North Korean government.

Eventually North Korean authorities coerced a confession and apology out of Pueblo commander Bucher, in which he stated, "I will never again be a party to any disgraceful act of aggression of this type." The rest of the crew also signed a confession under threat of torture.

The prisoners were then taken to a second compound in the countryside near Pyongyang, where they were forced to study propaganda materials and beaten for straying from the compound's strict rules. In August, the North Koreans staged a phony news conference in which the prisoners were to praise their humane treatment, but the Americans thwarted the Koreans by inserting innuendoes and sarcastic language into their statements. Some prisoners also rebelled in photo shoots by casually sticking out their middle finger; a gesture that their captors didn't understand. Later, the North Koreans caught on and beat the Americans for a week.

On December 23, 1968, exactly 11 months after the Pueblo's capture, U.S. and North Korean negotiators reached a settlement to resolve the crisis. Under the settlement's terms, the United States admitted the ship's intrusion into North Korean territory, apologized for the action, and pledged to cease any future such action. That day, the surviving 82 crewmen walked one by one across the "Bridge of No Return" at Panmunjon to freedom in South Korea. They were hailed as heroes and returned home to the United States in time for Christmas.

Incidents between North Korea and the United States continued in 1969, and in April 1969 a North Korean MiG fighter shot down a U.S. Navy intelligence aircraft, killing all 31 men aboard. In 1970, quiet returned to the demilitarized zone.

H. RES. 44

Maintaining North Korea's seizure of the vessel USS Pueblo and its detention of the crew were in violation of international law and seeking the return of the USS Pueblo to the United States.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JANUARY 17, 2023

Mr. STEUBE (for himself, Mr. WALTZ, and Mr. TIFFANY) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs

RESOLUTION

Maintaining North Korea's seizure of the vessel USS Pueblo and its detention of the crew were in violation of international law and seeking the return of the USS Pueblo to the United States.

Whereas the USS Pueblo is a commissioned ship of the United States Navy captured by North Korea on January 23, 1968;

Whereas the USS Pueblo carried three 50-caliber machine guns and were not fired when the USS Pueblo was being seized by North Korean patrol boats and engaged in no hostilities against anyone, including North Korea;

Whereas the United States has made clear that the USS Pueblo was on an intelligence collection mission in the Sea of Japan at the time of its seizure by North Korea;

Whereas intelligence collection by vessels of this type is a standard and accepted practice in the world today;

Whereas the USS Pueblo was engaged in a mission that is accepted by the navies and governments of the world;

Whereas the USS Pueblo had strict orders to remain at all times at a distance more than 13 nautical miles from the nearest point in North Korean territory, in order to avoid any possible incident. The United States has no reason to believe the orders were not obeyed;

Whereas even in the case of a warship that has entered territorial waters, the coastal state is not entitled to assert any jurisdiction over it other than to require the warship to leave the territorial sea if the warship does not comply with regulations of the coastal state concerning passage through the territorial sea and disregards a request for compliance;

Whereas the United States contends international law gives no such right to seize a foreign war vessel within the territorial waters of North Korea; and

Whereas all evidence shows that the USS Pueblo was on the high seas: Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

(1) maintains North Korea's seizure of the vessel USS Pueblo and its detention of the crew were in violation of international law; and

(2) declares that USS Pueblo is the property of the United States Government and it should be returned to the United States.
